Ahhh Summer Time

Summer = Busy

Shouldn't summer = relaxation? For most it doesn't, and I am on that list as well. I haven't been able to make it out to many JRT events due to my hectic schedule, but I was able to make it to the recent August 5th Fun Day, which was a blast. I encourage everyone to attend these Fun Days put on by the Rescue and JRTCC. They offer an abundance of activities, a chance to meet other JRT owners, and a chance to practice what you may be able to do one day at an upcoming trial. I would like to give a huge thank you to those involved in the Fun Days and the Trials. It takes a lot of work and dedication to run these events, and everyone does such a great job! And who could really resist the chance to hand out with a bunch of JRT's for the day?!

I also want to take this opportunity to remind members about Terrier Times SUBMISSIONS. I have been extending the submission dates in hopes that more members will contribute photos, stories or articles to our club publication. Just a reminder to email any submissions to me at the following address: terriertimes@jrtcc.org and please remember to keep pictures in JPEG format, stories and articles in Word or Text format. I look forward to receiving future submissions from our members and hopefully including them in the next addition of the Terrier Times.

I hope that everyone is having a safe and happy summer and fall.

JRTCA RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT REINSTATED

August 1, 2006 marks the return of the JRTCC/JRTCA Reciprocity Agreement. This agreement offers members on both sides of the border a cost savings to dual register their terriers in both countries. In order to take advantage of this opportunity you need to be a current member of both clubs.

Information on the JRTCC requirements is posted on our website and includes the following:

JRTCA Registered Terriers owned by American residents will cost $10.00 CDN. The application must include a copy of the terrier's JRTCA registration certificate, the JRTCC application form, a copy of the CA pedigree or a signed copy of the breeder's own pedigree. Photos, including one of the right side and one of the left side in duplicate (the duplicate set is required for the registration certificate). The owner must be a current member of the JRTCC, and must reside in the US; this procedure does not apply to JRTCC members living in Canada.

For full details on regular registration or recording of Canadian terriers for Canada only you can find information and necessary forms on the club website.

Message From The President

Greetings All,

I hope that everyone had a terrific summer and you all had the opportunity to get out to some of the many events that were held last spring and summer. I am very pleased to say that your new Board of Directors is already hard at work planning events for 2007 and the list of Upcoming Events is available in this edition of the Terrier Times. In addition to all the events that are listed, there are at least three others, including a Members Exclusive Event, that are still in the planning stages.

The National Trial Committee has already confirmed that Terri Batzer will be judging conformation at the 2007 Nationals at Valens Conservation Area, September 22 & 23. The 2006 National Trial was a great success and the 2007 trial is already promising to be even better. Please mark it in your calendar (of course, if you have a JRTR Calendar, it's already there!) The next Terrier Times will have a Nationals focus and will have all the results and highlights of the NT, as well as further updates from the committee. If you have a story, or photos from the 2006 trial, please send them to Julie Deans at terriertimes@jrtcc.org Please feel free to send articles or photos at any time regarding JRTs that you think may be of interest to our readers.

As the year winds down, it is time to start thinking about the holidays, family gatherings, shopping, and of course, renewing your membership. This year we have made it easier and cheaper to renew your membership. There is a newly revised membership application on the website that can be filled out right on line, printed off and then mailed in with your cheque (<http://www.jrtcc.org/join/Membership%20Application.pdf>) If we receive your application on or before December 31, you will get a $5.00 discount off a full membership (Associate Memberships not included).

Increase Membership

One of the goals of this year's BOD is to increase the membership of the JRTCC and to encourage people to get their memberships in early. We are in the process of developing a small, informative pamphlet about the Club that will be placed in willing pet food stores, vet clinics, boarding facilities, or anywhere else that JRT owners may go. If you would be willing to take some of these pamphlets to distribute them, please feel free to contact me at Jocelyn@jrtcc.org

Increase Participation

Another of the goals of this year's BOD is to increase member participation in events, and in a volunteer capacity. One of the reasons why the 2005 National Trial was cancelled was because we simply did not have enough people step forward and offer to help. Some of you have indicated to me that it is too difficult to attend an event, run your own dogs, and volunteer at that event. However, without volunteers, events will not happen. In fact, without volunteers, nothing will happen. Please make an effort to get involved in your Club. Every contribution makes a difference and the more events we can run, the better that is for everyone. There are many jobs that must be done well in advance of the actual events and many administrative positions or committee positions that still need to be filled. As most of you are aware, the JRTCC is the national breed registry for the JRT in Canada, which is something that as Club members we should all be proud of. If you are reading this, it is because you love the personality, intelligence and the working qualities of this breed, which the JRTCC and its registered breeders work tirelessly to maintain. It is only through the commitment and dedication of our members that this Club will continue to be the strongest JRT Club in Canada. Please help keep it that way by becoming involved.

On behalf of the new Board of Directors, I would just like to say thank you to all those that have already stepped forward and that we are all looking forward to a great year in 2007.

APOLOGY FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

For those of you that sent in 2006 membership applications this summer and have not yet received your welcome letter and your membership card, please accept our apologies. Our original membership secretary had a computer crash and much of the info was lost. In addition, the role then changed hands which required not just rebuilding what was lost but also adding late renewing members and new members. In all cases this has not impacted your ability to participate in events thankfully.

If you have any concerns please contact jana@jrtcc.org.

For 2007 we plan on sending out e-mail confirmations and mailing out your membership cards. Those of you that have sent in your applications to be eligible the early bird discount for 2007 (cut off is Dec 31st, 2006) can expect confirmation early in the new year. Those applications received after Dec 31st, 2006 should have confirmations within 30 days of receipt by the treasurer.

We thank you for your understanding and look forward an exciting 2007 Season!

Ask Me, Brandy, Come On, Ask Me!

Dear Brandy,

I am trying to teach my owner agility, but it's becoming very difficult. She is having a hard time with front and rear crosses, staying focused and basically doesn't know her head from a hole in the ground. Can you help?!

Signed JRT Agility Blues

Dear JRT Agility Blues,

Sounds like your owner isn't really getting what is expected of her. For the front and rear crosses, she is going to have to practice these outside the ring, before she can use them inside.

Get her to walk beside you slowly, then tell her "front cross" and have her carefully step out in front of you, circle and switch sides. The same goes for the rear crosses, but rather have her step behind you and then catch up.

You can work on this 10 minutes each day, getting faster as she progressively gets better. You have to remember that humans are less co-ordinated and don't have the balance that us JRTs do.

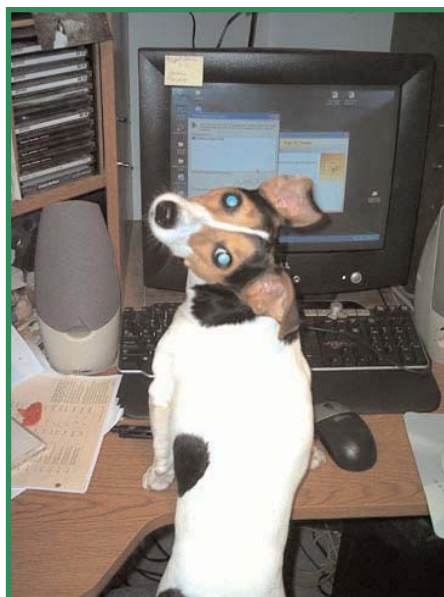

For focus, you need to make sure that her eyes are on you at all times. One way to do this is be noisy so you grab her attention. Make it know that she cannot take her eyes off you on course, because it can throw you off, and you might make a wrong turn or obstacle (totally your owners fault). If necessary, you can carry a much loved treat or toy with you that your owner can't resist (such as a piece of chocolate cake, a bag of chips or the TV remote) as you cruise the course. After running a full course, and once you know that your owner has focused on you the whole time, you can reward her with the treat/toy for a job well done.

She will eventually get the hang of these things with consistency and patience, and you will find that she will finally be able to tell her head from a hole in the ground.

Hard work and repetition pays off.

Good Luck!!

Brandy

A well posed heritage picture with what looks to be three smooth tri coloured Jack Russell Terriers, obviously all related.

Most likely these dogs weren't just the family pet, but rather worked for their keep as well, riding barns of rats and other vermin and assisting hunters in the field. The trio look proud to watch over their young owner.

Teaching You and Your Terrier JRT Racing

By Bob Franklin, CT

I have often been asked, "What is the secret to developing good racing dogs?" I believe it is about half genetics and half training/conditioning. A good racer must possess a certain intensity that not all JRTs have. Many races are won in the last yard or so because one dog simply wants to get there first. The best racers are "good movers" too. If a dog has structural defects that prevent good movement, that dog usually cannot run well. Conditioning helps improve movement or at least allows good movement to be effectively mobilized. Finally, an overweight JRT seldom wins racing, so watch what and how much you feed your racers.

Awakening Chase Instinct

The basic instincts for racing in JRTs are usually there, but these instincts must be awakened through training and experiences.

Start training when pups are quite young. Use a lure or even an old sock and get weanling pups interested in chasing it. Most will respond, but some may not. Next, as pups grow older, use a stick about 6 feet long with a cord about the same length tied to end of the stick and attach your "lure" to that cord. Get pups to chase this lure around in circles during frequent 5 to 10 minute sessions as they grow up. Even let them catch the lure once in awhile so they can "worry" it and get more excited.

The next step is to use a fishing pole or retractable clothesline with lure attached to get pups to learn to chase the lure in a straight line. Have lure go through a hole made from three bales of hay or three cardboard boxes fastened together in such a way as to make an opening similar to a finish hole at the end of a JRT racetrack. A retractable clothesline can be fastened to a post or a tree and the barrier placed 6 feet or more away from the clothesline reel. This way one person alone can even practice with a single puppy by holding the lure in front of the puppy and after "baiting" the puppy, release the lure and let lure puller do the work of moving the lure. Sometimes with very young puppies, clothesline lure puller will go too fast so you must somehow slow the lure enough by creating friction on the rope. Usually the fishing pole technique is better but this requires two people.

These same techniques will usually work with older, inexperienced terriers to get them started racing. Terriers must have their "chase instincts" awakened before they will race at all. Sometimes, if you have more than one terrier in training, the less aggressive ones will follow others just for the fun of it for awhile, but eventually most will catch on that the lure is the "name of the game" instead.

I am indebted to Didi Gough, California, who developed some of the above training techniques. Other training ideas evolved over time at the many racing fun days Farmcliff has held over the years.

Introduction to Race Track

The next step is to either construct your own racetrack or find friends that have a racetrack. Ask you JRT friends if there are any local racing fun days that you and your terrier(s) can attend. The track should be fenced so pups or inexperienced terriers cannot escape.

To begin with, ignore the start box and have handlers, with only one pup per handler, hold the puppies with all four feet on the ground part way down the racetrack (usually three at a time and without muzzles). Someone else shakes the lure under the puppies noses to get them excited about the lure. Start the lure moving and handlers should let go of their terriers as soon as lure starts. Try to keep lure just in front of lead puppy's nose and let them run down the track and through the finish hole. Handlers then follow the puppies to shoo the laggards down the track. Catchers should use lure to try and entice all puppies through finish hole, but if any still refuse, gently push them through the finish hole so they can see that there isn't anything to be afraid of on the other side. Catchers must be gentle when picking up puppies so avoid frightening them.

At least one of the puppies will eventually get the message and he/she can usually be used to entice others to follow-the-leader down the track. Repeat two or three more times trying each time to keep lure as close in front of the leader as possible. If one puppy is clearly superior to others and gets quite far ahead, hold that pup longer and release it after the others are 10 to 15 feet ahead so it has to play "catch-up". Or, just take that superior puppy out and put it with a more advanced group so slower puppies can be closer to the lure. Do not over extend their attention span by running so many times that they begin to lose interest.

Of course, if you have a heckler in the group, pull that terrier out and only run it against clearly superior racers that will leave the "fighter" in their dust so it doesn't have a chance to heckle other terriers. If you are teaching older terriers to race, you have to be much more cautious about fighting and quickly take an aggressor out and work with it separately. Some may even need a muzzle from the beginning, but it is better to let the terriers get very excited before muzzles are introduced.

Introduction to Start Box

Once the terriers are racing enthusiastically and are readily going through finish hole, the next step is to introduce puppies or novice racers to the start box. If you are working with your puppy or novice racer at home, use a plastic dog crate to simulate a start box. Place the terrier in the box with the front closed. Wave the lure in front of the terrier and when the lure starts, open the crate's door and release the terrier so it can chase the lure.

If you are at a fun day or have your own racing start-box, the teaching technique is similar. Don't work with too many terriers at once - 3 or 4 at the most. Again, it is best to not use muzzles when first introducing new racers to the start-box. Try to get fairly even competitors so all have a reasonable chance of seeing the lure as it moves down the track. If one or two terriers have proven clearly superior to others during hand held exercises or the first time out of the start box, hold them out and race them with others closer in speed. Carefully put terriers in start-box and have someone constantly waving lure right in front of the box to keep terriers headed toward the front. Start lure moving, open box and hopefully all terriers will follow the lure down the track. Skill of lure machine operator is very important since it is critical to keep lure just in front of lead terrier so they don't lose contact with the lure. Repeat this step a few times trying to keep dogs of equal ability together.

Introduction to Muzzles

Once terriers are enthusiastically coming out of start-box and following the lure down the track, it is time to introduce muzzles. Hopefully the terrier's eyes are "revolving in their sockets" and they are screaming when you first put on muzzles just before putting them in start-box. Quickly start lure and open start-box and terriers won't even realize they are muzzled. Have catchers remove muzzles immediately. Repeat a couple of times. If terriers start fussing with their muzzles, then back up and seek to get them excited again so muzzles can be re-introduced.

Eventually, most terriers will associate muzzles with racing and will almost stick their noses into the muzzle. Attaching a muzzle to a wriggling terrier is a two handed job and trying to hold a terrier under one arm and do it one handed is almost impossible. I long ago developed a simple technique, which I have since taught to many terrier handlers that works very effectively. Simply "park" the terrier between your thighs holding it in region just behind its ribs by exerting pressure on the terriers sides with your thighs. I suggest that you wear long pants when racing terriers because otherwise you will probably get your legs scratched when putting on their muzzles. Terriers usually settle after some initial wriggling and will place their front feet on your knees. This frees both hands and you can easily attach a muzzle to the terrier's nose. After that is done, just open your legs enough so terrier lightly drops to the ground. Put muzzles on only just before you enter racing heat staging area and after a catcher hands you your terrier, remove the muzzle immediately.

Once terriers have learned to accept a muzzle, it is only a matter of experience or mileage for them to really learn racing. Some terriers balk at hurdles the first time, but usually after a few races, they learn to jump hurdles with no hesitation. I suggest you keep and wear specific sweat-shirts and tee shirts for racing only. Your shirt will always get muddy from terrier feet and often they will get ripped and torn because of struggling terrier feet. Your side and arms may also suffer scratches from these same terrier toenails. In my case, my eardrums often suffer from the screaming of some of my terriers who really, really can't wait to race.

Conditioning Your Terrier For Racing

Depending on the category where your terrier races, it may run only 2 races during Jack Russell Trial racing or up to 8 races. Those terriers which place first in one of their races and thus qualifying for a Championship run-off, will run still another race. If a stakes race category is added, this could add another 3 or 4 more races. Throw in the possibility of one or two re-runs for whatever reasons and this adds still more potential times your terrier must run down the 75 yard track at full speed. Add to this, the energy many terriers expend clawing at their cages or jumping up and down in eagerness while waiting to race and it becomes evident that conditioning of racing terriers is very important.

Start by feeding a good quality dog food usually purchased from a high-end pet supply house. A canine in the wild would consume mostly protein, fat and calcium as it eats the small animals or birds it catches although some of these animals/birds may have some partially digested grains in their stomachs or crops. You will almost never see a canine eating corn on the cob, wheat or beet pulp because the canine system evolved with mouth and digestive juices designed to digest animals - not grains. Therefore, it makes sense to look for dog foods where animal by-products (chicken, turkey, lamb, etc.) are listed as the highest percentage ingredients. Note also that dog biscuits are mostly wheat because the gluten in wheat is required to make biscuits hard.

Never let your terrier get overweight. You should be able to feel ribs and back bone easily. General rule-of-thumb is that terriers should weigh about one pound per inch of height at its withers. Usually, smaller female terriers will weigh slightly under this rule and larger male terriers may weigh slightly over this rule. So, regulate the amount your terrier gets each day by the condition of the terrier rather than mfg. recommendations. Obviously, terriers that run all day need more food than terriers that sleep on the couch or in their crates all day.

Exercise is vital to condition terriers for racing. Hopefully your terrier can be loose in your yard a major part of each day. If possible, walk your terriers off-leash in the woods several times each week. If you walk a mile, your terrier will run as many as 5 miles back and forth, digging, exploring and generally having a great time. A mile walk for you terrier on a leash is hardly any exercise at all. Running in the woods is especially good because it also teaches your terrier how to jump hurdles as it leaps over logs, rocks, etc. while running at full speed. If walks in the woods are not practical, then teach your terrier to fetch a ball and throw the ball 40 or 50 times several times each day. If your property has a hill, throw the ball up the hill as this increases the exertion level for the terrier dramatically.

Some people say their terriers swim a lot. This probably keeps terriers in good physical condition, but swimming is probably not the best type of conditioning for racing. Muscles used in swimming are different than required for speed running. Lure coursing in moderation is probably good for conditioning, but too much lure coursing may make for lazy dogs. They rarely ever catch the lure and eventually realize it is a futile effort so start loafing or cutting across.

If you plan on racing your terriers frequently for conditioning, it is recommended that you do this in moderation because too much racing can lead to boredom and make lazy racers. Let racing be an infrequent activity and they will really stay excited.

I hope this article helps you to condition your terriers for racing. On the other side of that coin, I hope not too many of you begin beating my terriers so that I rue the day I ever wrote this article. Just kidding of course.

RESCUE REPORT

Adoptions and Relinquishments

From September 24 until November 22, there have been 12 adoptions and there are currently two pending:

- * Pippin
- * Freddie
- * Buddy
- * Rex
- * Ciara
- * Nicky
- * Rolo
- * Boss
- * Paco
- * Kelsey
- * Stevie
- * Rollie
- * Elliot (pending)
- * Cele (pending)

There were 8 owner relinquishments during this time, one of which was an abuse case, and 4 shelter intakes. Due to a large number of dogs coming into the Rescue that had vet bills over $200.00, it was decided that we would raise the adoption fee from $100.00 to $150.00.

Public Relations and New Merchandise

The National Trial was a huge success for the Rescue, with $540.00 worth of merchandise being sold. The single biggest item to be sold was the new JRTRIO Sweatshirts, which have been extremely popular. The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair brought in $825.00, primarily from the sale of the new JRTRIO Calendar which has been a tremendous success. Plans are already underway for next year's calendar. As an added fundraiser, we will try to offer 'Special Occasion Days' for people to purchase and then put in a comment on a particular day.

Website

After several months of planning, the new JRTRIO Website is now up and is operational, www.russellrescue.org

Happy Endings Rescue Stories

ADOPTING SNOOPY

We are a couple from Ohio, USA (Dale and Deb Barnes) with two grown children. We got our first Jack Russell puppy, Ally (a female) 8 years ago. We've had so much fun with her that we decided to adopt a companion. It had to be just the right dog to fit in our family. Dale went to the internet and spent many hours searching for a young, male Jack Russell from all over the US and Canada. The new dog would need to get along with Ally and like to run, play and go on trips to the beach. When we saw Snoopy's picture and read about him we knew he was the one. But how could we get him here, he was many hundreds of miles away and it was the middle of the winter. It was too cold to ship him on a plane. So we talked with Jocelyn Dollack of Jack Russell Terrier Rescue Ontario and she hooked us up with Marie Christine Durocher, Snoopy's foster mother. Marie Christine lives one hour north of Montreal and it was decided that Dale would drive to Canada to pick Snoopy up and Marie Christine would bring Snoopy south of town to cut down on Dale's travel time. We are so grateful for the dedication these two women have for the JRT and all our four legged friends. If not for them we probably wouldn't have Snoopy.

Dale traveled 13 hours in a snowstorm from Monroeville, Ohio USA to Montreal, Canada to get him. Snoopy was very happy to be adopted, we can see it in the way he looks at us, and he loves to play with Ally and us. His worst problem is that he wants to lick everyone all the time to show how he loves us! He likes to go to the beach and run with

Ally, chasing shore birds and playing with the shells, including big horseshoe crabs Ally is scared of them so she just digs holes around them and barks and then Snoopy runs by and steals it away from her (he's not afraid). He also likes playing outside in the warm weather chasing birds and rabbits. But most of all he and Ally love to go for a walk.

It's been a great experience having Snoopy and Ally and we're looking forward to showing them off at some Jack Russell events this summer.

Important Information

PUPPY RECORDING SYSTEM

Just a reminder from the Breeder's Committee for new breeders (and otherwise) that the Puppy Recording system is available, and we would like to encourage breeders to use it. Recording the puppies in your litter is strictly voluntary, and begins with any litter born after December 31, 2000. The fee of $5 per puppy, to a maximum of $25 per litter, will provide you with a Puppy Recording Certificate for each pup, and a $10 credit will be applied toward registration or recording for each pup when it reaches one year of age. This will provide the breeders with a certificate to accompany each pup as it is placed in its new home, and hopefully, encourage the new owners to become members and register or record their terriers. This will also provide the Breeders' Committee and the Board of Directors with a more accurate record of activity and number of dogs within the JRTCC. As you all know, numbers have become extremely important. We strongly encourage everyone to participate in this program and show your support for your club.

The Registrar has put a lot of time and effort into this program. Let's not let it go to waste. Application forms may be obtained from the Registrar or may be downloaded from the website.

JRTCGB

If you are interested in learning more about the JRTCGB; the Jack Russell Terrier breed club in Great Britain and the JRTCC's parent club, contact Lynne Pinfield, Secretary to the JRTCGB. Overseas memberships are welcomed. Reminder: if you are importing a terrier from England, it will now be required to be registered with the JRTCGB prior to application for JRTCC registration. If it has not been registered with the JRTCGB by the seller, it will be your responsibility as the buyer to do so. The JRTCGB's registration system requires minimal information and there is no age restriction for a terrier's application. The person applying for registration must be a current member of the JRTCGB. Applications are available from Lynne Pinfield marklynne@glenmore4.free-serve.co.uk

DEADLINES FOR SUBMISSIONS TO THE TERRIER TIMES

Issue	Deadline
Fall	Nov. 1/06
Winter	Feb. 1/07
Spring	May 1/07
Summer	Aug. 1/07

Please submit all material on or before the above dates.

A "yearbook" of trial results & colour photos will be published on-line in the members-only section in December - deadline for submissions including holiday greetings is November 15/06.

GOT IDEAS??

Do you have any stories, articles, photos or ideas for upcoming issues of the times? Please feel free to submit them to the Terrier Times Editor, Julie Deans at:

terriertimes@jrtcc.org

We can not guarantee that your content will make it to print, but will try our best to accommodate everyone's stories, articles and photos.

JRTCC Conflicting Organization Policy

The JRTCC expressly prohibits terriers owned by its members and/or registered with the JRTCC, and/or JRTCC members, from participating with those terriers, or officiating/judging at any events that are sponsored, produced, sanctioned by or associated, affiliated or allied with, or related in any way to organizations that are considered conflicting organizations by the JRTCC, which consideration shall be defined at the sole discretion of the Executive of the JRTCC, should that be necessary.

Conflicting organizations presently include, but are not limited to the CKC, AKC, UKC, JRATA, Parson JRTC of Great Britain, CJRTA and all Rare Breed or Miscellaneous Breed Organizations and any group seeking Kennel Club recognition.

Violation of this policy, knowingly or otherwise, will result in the member/terrier being sanctioned or penalized by the JRTCC, which sanctioning or penalty may include expulsion from the JRTCC with all fees forfeited, or in the case of kennel name registrations, withdrawal of the right to use that kennel name in registrations, and withdrawal of all privileges for the recording or registering of terriers.

Members should note that this policy applies only to the participation or exhibition of Jack Russell Terriers in such events, and not the participation or exhibition of other breeds or types of dogs owned by a member.

JRTCC Complaint Policy

Should a JRTCC member have a complaint that they feel should be acted upon by the the Board, it must be submitted in writing and accompanied by a cheque in the amount of $25.00. The JRTCC cannot act on verbal complaints.

The written complaint must include detailed supporting documentation, in the event that an investigation is necessary. It should be noted that the JRTCC can take action only when a JRTCC documented rule or policy has been violated.

The individual(s) against whom the complaint has been lodged will be provided with a copy of the complaint in the form received, and the complainant will be identified.

The complaint should be forwarded to the President of the JRTCC, or the appropriate Committee Chairperson, if directly related to the responsibilities of a specific JRTCC Committee. Addresses are listed on the back cover of each issue of the Terrier Times. If the complaint is found to be valid, the $25.00 filing fee will be refunded and the complainant advised of the JRTCC's action. All Letters of complaint are retained in the JRTCC files for future reference.

Please note that the procedure for making a personal "charge" against another member (i.e. requesting expulsion of that member by the JRTCC) is defined in the JRTCC bylaws. The above procedure does not apply in the case of personal charges.

Legal

The Terrier Times is the publication for the Jack Russell Terrier Club of Canada. "Jack Russell Terrier Club" is a registered trademark of the Jack Russell Terrier Club of Canada Inc.

In no way does the Jack Russell Terrier Club of Canada support any organization that recognizes a Parson Jack Russell.

Opinions expressed in letters and articles contained in Terrier Times are not necessarily those of the Editor, or of the JRTCC.

Claims and their accuracy made in advertisements are the responsibility of the advertiser.

Trial results and the accuracy of such are the responsibility of the Trial Chairperson. Disputes of a published trial result should be directed to the Trial Chairperson.

The editor reserves the right to edit or condense articles and letters submitted for publication.

The editor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, article, or letter for any reason. Deadline for the Summer issue of Terrier Times is May 15th 2006.
